

Codes of conduct on yard.

We welcome anyone who wishes to help out with the horses on the yard. However, it is important that the following codes are observed in order to make it not only a safe environment but a pleasurable one for all concerned. Anyone who fails to comply with them will not be allowed to stay on the yard.

- 1) No running or shouting across the yard.
- 2) No swearing or abusive behaviour towards staff or clients.
- 3) No climbing on the bales of shavings or haylage.
- 4) No spiteful conversations or actions will be tolerated.
- 5) No bullying behaviour.
- 6) No climbing on the tractor.
- 7) No food or bags will be allowed within the actual arenas.
- 8) Only helpers assisting the instructors may be permitted in the arenas.
- 9) Any directions given by staff must be followed for your own safety.

It is important that you understand that this is not only a business but also my home and that we wish to maintain a fun environment where like-minded people can enjoy interacting with all the horses and meeting and making new friends. If you are not prepared to muck in and help out then please just come for your lesson only as we can only take so many people at one time and that needs to be the people who genuinely want to learn and be around the horses.

Many thanks,

Lisa
